A letter from their excellencies.....

Greetings unto the Populace of Dreiburgen,

Happy New Year!!! It is a new year and we have a new King and Queen. We are ready for a busy year and January starts off busy. As a Barony we did not have a presentation for Their Royal Majesties for Coronation so we would like to do a presentation at Festival of the Rose on February 1st. Keep an eye out on the Book of Faces for Their Majesties preferences.

Last year as a Barony we started many new activities. We look forward to seeing what else we can start up this year. We look forward to seeing you all soon.

~ In Service to the Dream,

Baron Logan

Baroness Tyne

The Dos Lagos Demos

Several Dreiburgans suddenly apparated at a Christmas Market in South Corona for two nights in December. Led by our most heroic Chatelaine, Lady Yngvildr in Írska; These brave souls endured the bitter cold, gusty winds, and a vicious onslaught of holiday shoppers to share their love of the game with the public. Many friendly faces were in attendance to represent the Arts & Sciences and Armored Combat communities. Our Youth Officer was on hand to cleverly distract the youth with hand crafts while their guardians were left free to converse. There were numerous contacts made, with most being interested in armored combat and brewing. This was a very successful outreach with the next Demo already planned for the Riverside Dickens Festival in February.

If you have an interest in volunteering to help with this event please reach out to Lady Yngvildr in Írska via Facebook email at: chatelaine@dreiburgen.org

One of the most important pieces of kumihimo equipment is a stand to support a kagami (braiding disk) or a takadai (square braiding plate). This makes it possible to move two threads at a time and facilitates adjustments on a work in progress. Commercially produced marudais start at around $30 each, so for SCA teaching purposes I decided to make them from cardboard. After teaching at Dreiburgen Yule several people expressed an interest in making their own.

If you happen to have an empty oatmeal canister you can save time by reading Baroness Lynette de Sandoval's wonderful instructions for constructing a marudai that way. For lack of an oatmeal canister I decided to modify the concept for corrugated cardboard.

Materials:

- Corrugated cardboard box

- Pen - Box cutter

- Packing tape - Glue

- An old CD

This stand has an open top, a stabilizing base, and one mostly open side. The stand itself will be 11" tall and 3" square. Start by measuring out three shapes: an 11" \times 6" rectangle, a 3" \times 14" rectangle, and a 3 1/4" \times 1 1/4" rectangle. Mark lines and make folds so that the larger two sections are essentially two 11" \times 3" portions and one 11" \times 3" portion with one 3" \times 3" portion. Pre-cut packing tape to the appropriate sizes, then assemble the cardboard segments so that the Madurai has a square base, three enclosed sides, and a small support bar at the top of one open side. Glue an old CD to the base to improve stability. Once the glue dries the Marudai is ready to use.

- Ruler

Dreiburgen Yule

On December 7th, Dreiburgen celebrated it's final event of the year. It was a cozy gathering of friends both old and new. The populace turned out a fantastic potluck style feast with all of their favorite foods, while members of the culinary guild graced the tables with some festive and delicious period dishes.

The period style strumming of THL Baka Valdemar Dhurakov provided a lovely atmosphere to the festivities. While the gaming tables were crowded with fierce competitors all battling for the title of Dreiburgen Games Champion. There were all manner of period games from Dominos to Hnefatafl.

There was also a range of Arts and Sciences classes offered. THL Megan de Barri taught a fantastic middle eastern dance class, THL Agnes Wurtmen offered a Kumohimo workshop for those who were string inclined, While Lady Kunigund Benehonig provided a leather workshop for the littlest members of the populace.

The celebration was capped off by a most impressive Bardic battle. The Baronies most talented vocalists, poets, storytellers, actors and musicians all competed in the Annual Bardic Championship. My personal favorite part of Yule, a wonderful collection of performances from the most daring and courageous members of our populace. It is very exciting to see a new bard take the floor for the first time. As it is always a pleasure to see how returning performers improve their craft from one year to the next, and this year did not disappoint!

To all of you who gave your time, effort, emotion, and knowledge - your gifts were well received and very much appreciated. To our friends and family - our time together is incredibly valuable. Good Yule and Blessings to you all!!

Chronicler's Dote

Unto the Populace of Dreiburgen;

I am over joyed to have this opportunity to serve you. As this is my very first issue as the newly appointed Baronial Chronicler, I hope that you are pleased. Over the next several months, I will be working to curate content that you will find both useful and inspiring. Any contributions, big or small are always welcome. I'm also looking forward to hearing your suggestions or ideas for future issues. This publication is not only for you, it is about you, the populace of Dreiburgen. I am very excited to see where this adventure takes us.

Yours in Glorious Service;

Ramvoldus Kröss
